Let's Start!

Sally has a new e-mail message! What's it about?

Learning Outcome

Accurately use information about places in a limited range of social situations.

Ask your partner:

- What do you like to do on trips?
- Do you use the internet to research things you can do?

Can Do Statements

- I can talk about things to do or take on trips.
- I can talk about travel and transportation.
- I can talk about plans and intentions.

Let's Explore!

Sally is booked in for her Beijing Tour. What places is she going to?

Instructions: Read the text aloud.

SUBJECT: CONFIRMATION OF CHINESE ADVENTURES TOUR

Hello Miss Davis,

This e-mail is confirming that you are booked in for our 2-day Beijing tour. You are booked in for the tour that is going to start on the 9th and end on the 11th. Here is your itinerary:

- Check in at FC Hotel on October 8th after 12 p.m. Arrive on time.
- Breakfast is going to be provided (Western, Chinese or combination).
- On October 9th, the tour bus is going to depart from the hotel at 9 a.m. The morning excursion is to the Temple of Heaven. The tour bus is returning to the hotel at 5 p.m.
- On October 10th, the excursion is going to cover Tiananmen Square and the Forbidden City.

Please contact us if you have questions.

Let's Practice!

Learning Points

Talking About Intentions and Plans

You use the Present Continuous and be going to to talk about future actions and events.

You use the Present Continuous to talk about arrangements and plans. Be going to puts an emphasis on the idea of intention (you decide to do something).

Examples:

- We are departing from the hotel at 9 a.m.
- We are going to return around 5 p.m.
- The bus is leaving in 10 minutes.
- We're traveling to Beijing next week. These are the tickets.
- I'm going to visit Paris next year.
- He's going to visit all the museums and monuments.

You can use intend to in place of be going to.

Example: I intend to arrive early.

Remember that you need to conjugate the auxiliary verb TO BE for both the Present Continuous and be going to.
