

Instructor: Date:

Learner: Regional Branch:

Program: Center:

CONTENT

- Let's Start! • Let's Explore! • Let's Practice! • Extension Activity • Target Words • Learning Points

Let's Start!

Writing Spot: Let's learn about Chinese tea!

Learning Outcome

Identify health problems and ways of staying healthy, and use them in a limited range of social situations.

Ask your partner:

- Do you drink tea? What kind?
- Do you think tea can help an upset stomach?

Can Do Statements

- I can write a small persuasive text about food and customs.
- I can ask and report about things and events.
- I can talk about common health problems.

Let's Explore!

Sally makes herself some tea for her upset stomach. She reads the information on the side of the tin.

* A "tin" is a container made of metal.

Instructions: Read the text aloud.

China is famous for its noodles, spices and special ways of preparing and eating food. China is also the home of tea. There are many types of tea in China. Each type has its own special flavor and color. For thousands of years, tea has been important in China. Today, it is still the favorite drink there. Millions of Chinese drink tea after their meals. In the cold winter, a great cup of Chinese tea is as good as a blanket.

Tea is also a fantastic summer drink. It helps to cool the body down when it is warm outside. All tea drinkers agree that tea is healthy. They believe it can make a person more relaxed. They also say that it cleans the body of harmful materials and helps sick people feel better. Chinese people love tea. They won't let a single day pass without a cup of tea. Chinese tea is amazing.

Let's Practice!

Can I convince you to try some Chinese tea?

Instructions: Choose the adjective in each sentence that persuades you to believe something.

1. Today, it is still the favorite drink here.
2. Tea is a fantastic summer drink as well.
3. Chinese tea is amazing!
4. Each type has its own special flavor and color.

Let's Practice!

Are you feeling OK? Would you like some tea?

Instructions: Complete the sentences. Write the missing word. Use helps sick, relaxed, home, harmful, healthy.

1. China is also the _____ of tea.
2. All tea drinkers agree that tea is _____.
3. They believe it can make a person more _____.
4. They also say that it cleans the body of _____ materials.
5. Chinese tea _____ people feel better.

Extension Activity

Research foods and drinks from around the world that help common health problems.

Instructions: Complete the following steps. Fill in the Self-Assessment.

- Research food and drink that help with health problems.
- Complete the table below.
- Choose three items and write a sentence for each.
- Read your sentences to a partner or family member.

Self-Assessment

Yes No

I research food and drink.

☐ ☐

I share the information with a partner.

☐ ☐

I write three sentences about food and health.

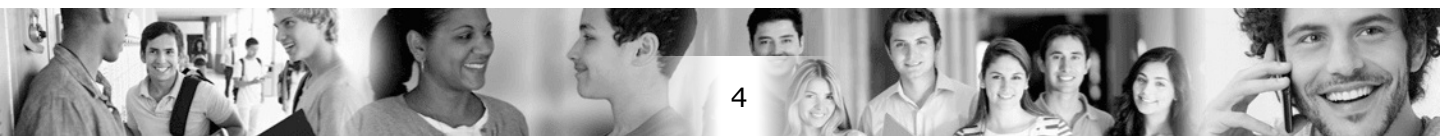

☐ ☐

Food or Drink	What Does It Help?

Target Words

- blanket (noun): a wool or cotton covering on a bed that helps you keep warm
e.g. I need a blanket to keep warm.
- harmful (adjective): causing damage or harm
e.g. Pollution is harmful to the environment.
- to pass (verb): to go by e.g. They won't let a single day pass without a cup of tea.
- material (noun): what something is made of e.g. My pillow is made of soft material.
- authentic (adjective): made in the traditional or original way
e.g. I love authentic Chinese food!
- to claim (verb): to say something is true
e.g. Some people claim that tea is good for you.
- the home of (expression): where something started
e.g. China is the home of tea.
- to convince (verb): to cause someone to believe something or change their mind
e.g. You use persuasive language to convince someone.

Learning Points

Persuasive Language

You use persuasive language to convince the reader to agree with you about an issue. You use facts to give your opinion.

Words like fabulous, best, amazing and special can persuade someone to believe something.

Example: Chinese tea is the best tea in the world!

Advertisements often use persuasive writing. They use words like amazing, brilliant or free to persuade customers.

You can also use persuasive writing to convince someone that you are right and/or that they are wrong.

When you use persuasive writing, think about your audience.

- Who are you selling to or trying to persuade?
- Choose words that your audience understands.
- List your key points. Think about how to organize your writing. How many paragraphs?

Language you can use when you are making an argument.

Persuasive Writing Aspects	Examples
Showing Contrast (another idea)	Coffee is good. However , excess of coffee can hurt you. Sugar gives you energy. On the other hand , it has many calories. Although chocolate is delicious, a large amount can give you a headache and stomach ache. Wine is tasty. Unfortunately , it has a lot of calories.
Ordering	You can eat healthily. First of all , eat at regular hours. Then , try to avoid saturated fat. Next , control the amount of food you eat. Finally , never forget to have your daily meals.
Summarizing, Concluding	To sum up , drinking tea is a very healthy habit. In summary , breakfast is the most important daily meal. All things considered , don't eat too much meat, principally red meat.
Adding more	Tea is a very healthy drink. What's more , black tea is the healthiest type. In addition to making you healthy, daily exercise will make you fit. Sleeping well will not (won't) only help your body relax, but it will also make your memory better.

